Do you have the labels for aldicarb? I wanted to look at those.

I look through it now. I have been working on aldicarb and rebooting my computer. My hang-ups today have been in excel.

Steve,

I am done updating my parts of the document (minus the DCI bullets)...

I did have a random thought about passerines... that came to me at the last minute... other than those two things I think it should be just about ready... there were just a few things that needed a quick lookover by you, and then I think we're good to go for Amy/Karen for one last look over...

If there is anything else, let me know.

Thanks,
Christina

The new link opened fine (note that I also had rebooted before trying it). I see that Karen is still in the document. Should I wait to start editing.

That opened just fine, but if your still working in it Karen no worries... the more people in it the clunkier it can get...

I tried to save my edits and could not.
Should we do this instead?
